Hi stack is a mortarless block system. The specially designed block features an interlocking system that removes the need for mortar and plastic connectors whilst maintaining lateral strength. A Hi Stack wall can be built to an un-reinforced height of 1200mm high and a reinforced height of 3000mm high. These blocks are suitable for building retaining walls, basement walls, comprehensive load capacity walls, fences, letterboxes, BBQ's, nib walls and party walls.

The Hi Stack system provides for clean hollow cores which allow for a faster core-fill process without the use of clean out blocks. The first layer of blocks should be mortared to a concrete base to provide line and level for the remaining block courses. A drainage system within the backfill is needed, preferably in the form of a 300mm width of gravel behind the wall with a continuous agricultural pipe located at the base of the wall and discharging beyond the ends of the wall.
